Dear Justice Department:

I am a consumer of Microsoft products and I have not been hurt by them. In fact, I benefit from their products. It was so foolish not to let them help disadvantaged schools. Why don't you quit wasting your time with Microsoft. You are obsessive-compulsive. I think it is more important that you go after Wal-Mart. They have caused untold damage to small businesses and communities. I think that you are very shortsided and narrow-minded.

Sincerely,

Michael Pollack
